The Governor transmitted to the Senate, by his private Secretary, his Biennial Message, as follows :

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives :

I congratulate you on the circumstances under which you assemble. We have abundant cause for continued thankfulness to that Supreme Providence, who overlooks and governs the affairs of men and nations, for a continuance of most of the blessings of life. Those engaged in the cultivation of the earth, have generally been favored with the fulness of increased production of its fruits, which most conduce to the support and enjoyment of the human family. Not only have we abundant crops of grain, but the product of the great staple of the State is such, as to enable us to enjoy many of the luxuries of life, and to discharge our pecuniary obligations to others.

While the industry if the planter has been rewarded, we have been exempt from the devastating ravages of disease, to the extent that others have suffered. Though we have been so spared and blessed as a people, yet we have to regret the loss of some of our most worthy and estimable citizens. Of the number whose death we have to deplore, is my immediate predecessor, the Hon. Henry W. Collier, who, in the vigor of physical and mental ability, addressed you the last biennial communication from this department. He had been long honorably connected with the public service in this State, and at all times enjoyed the confidence of those who knew him, as a man of ability, integrity and sterling worth. He died in the Northern part of the State, whither he had gone to recruit his health. In his death the community have lost a good citizen, and the State a faithful servant.

Peace, and a quiet obedience to, and respect for law, and strict regard for the rights of others, characterize the conduct of our citizens. We do not deplore none of those outrages and breaches of moral and legal obligations that appear in other communities. No strange heresies blur the fair fame of the moral and political character of Alabama. A faithful observance of all legal and constitutional obligation, is a leading and prominent trait in the character of our people. Living fully up to the enlightened and christianized spirit of the age, they show themselves to be entitled to that character of manliness and chivalry, which constitutes the true American citizen. It is gratifying to see institutions of learning increasing and flourishing in all sections of the State, built up by the free will offering, energy and liberality of the people. It is a matter of some surprise, however, to observe that most Academies and Colleges are intended for the education and accomplishment of the female portion of our youth. While it is another evidence of the advancement of Southern cultivation, and chivalrous feelings, it is equally to be desired to see institutions of a similar character, for the culture of the young men of the State, appreciated and patronized by public liberality.

It is a subject of surprise and mortification, that the University of our own State has not obtained that degree of success and favor in the estimation of Alabamians, to which it is justly entitled. With an able and learned faculty, with every requisite for a thorough education, it seems to have been neglected, by those who should feel the deepest interest in its success and usefulness. It may be, that those who send their sons to other States, to pass through a collegiate course, desire them to be early inculcated with a proper sense of humility, and an acknowledgment of Southern inferiority, so much taught, and so thoroughly impressed in many of the institutions of the North, patronised by Southern youth. It will doubtless have the happy effect of inducing early submission to personal and political wrong, but a natural trait in the young men of the South, but a sentiment, it may be considered by some important, they should learn early. Or it may be, that those who seek an education far from home, expect to be able to pass for men of great accomplishments, on the reputations of schools gone through, rather than the solidity of their collegiate attainments. Be the cause what it may the lamentable fact exists that the University of Alabama does not hold that position in the public estimation that it should. I earnestly invite the Legislature wisdom to a consideration of the cause, and the application of the proper remedy.

The results of the School Bill of the last session, have not been so favorable as were hoped for by its friends. In some parts of the State it has worked well, in others it has not been well received, and not been productive of good. It was not to have been expected, however, that a system perfectly harmonious could have been adopted at once. It is to be hoped that the present Legislature, acting on the suggestions of the Superintendent, may be able to correct all imperfections, so as to make it acceptable to the whole people, and of greater utility to those for whose benefit it was enacted.

Large sums of money have been expended in the construction of the Insane Hospital, and the building is far from completion. Unfortunately a plan has been adopted which, to be fully carried out, will require heavy appropriations from the State Treasury. If it be considered an imperative obligation upon the State to maintain a Lunatic Asylum, it may be well to decide whether a proper regard for economy would not be consulted by the commencement of a new building, more suitable to the demands for a house for the purposes intended, as well as the financial condition of the State. A healthy location, cheerful mountain views, pleasant scenery, good water &c., &c., have all been deemed indispensably necessary for the cure of the mind diseased. As a matter of economy, an Asylum should be located in a county where land, labor, and the supplies of life, are abundant and cheap ; as well as a point easy of access from all parts of the State. If the building now commenced should be completed, large sums would have to be appropriated, to keep it in a state of preservation. A house such dimensions, it is hoped, will not soon be demanded by the wants of that unfortunate class in our State.

Nothing important or new has transpired in regard to the financial condition of the State. Alabama bonds have not to any great extent been upon the markets, consequently they have not been taken up, as they would have been, to the limited extent of our available means. The reports of the State Commissioner, Treasurer, and Comptroller, will present a detailed and particular statement of the finances of the State. The present revenue act raises more money than is required to carry on, economically administered, the ordinary affairs of the State Government, and as it is improper and unjust to collect from the people more money than the necessities of the State absolutely demand, the present rate of taxation might be very properly reduced. It is unjust to a people who have at all times promptly responded to whatever calls that have been made, to burden them with such taxation as may create a surplus in the Treasury, to lie there unemployed, or become the subject of controversy between different interests, for the doubtful privilege of borrowing it. Altho' it is no part of the legitimate business of the State to lend its means or credit to its citizens, no matter what pursuit engaged, it may be proper, as a financial operation, to lend to such enterprises as are considered of public utility whatever unproductive surplus there may be in the Treasury of the State, unavailable in the payment of State obligations, which is first duty to the people and our creditors ; provided, the parties borrowing, guarantee by security, both personal and real, the prompt payment of principal and interest, at some early date. The sum of four hundred thousand dollars has been loaned to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, agreeable to the act authorizing the loan, and the interest has been paid promptly, according to the terms of the loan.

The propriety of the State loaning its credit, or raising the means from the people, to aid in the construction of railroads, appears not to have received the approbation either of the people, or those seeking place in the councils of the State. I look on it as a most fortunate circumstance for the country, the sober common sense of the people was of such force as to correct so promptly the mania that pervaded the minds of many, but a few months since. We should rejoice that for the future, there is hope that the acts of the State will be confined to the few simple legitimate purposes of a republican government. The amount last to the credit of the State in the Treasury of the United States, was paid to the order of the State Commissioner direct, and did not pass through the State Treasury. The sum loaned to the Cahaba and Woodville Plank Road Company, by failure on part of the company to comply with the terms of the loan, has become due. Proceedings have not been instituted against the company on assurance that the money would be paid without a resort to coercive measures.

The report of the State Commissioner will show the amount of assets yet appertaining to the several Banks in liquidation, and the means yet to be expected from that source. The State Banks have been in liquidation now about twelve years, and many of the debts yet outstanding have been in existence a much longer time. The people have a right to demand that this unfortunate experiment at State financing be brought to a close. The expensive machinery of mending up should be condensed. It will be doubtless be necessary to continue the office of State Commissioner, or agent, but by a transfer of books and papers to not more than two places, the business could be so consolidated, as to require but few offices and at lessened expense. Those who have take so long to pay their debts, will have no just cause to complain at having to pay, at this late period, at a point less convenient than the original. The reissue of the bills or notes of defunct banks, in my estimation, is no longer admissible or proper, and could only have been excused by the straightened situation in which the crises of broken Banks and failing credit placed us at the bursting of the system, and can no longer be justified by any principle of sound business policy, or good faith. The notes of the State Banks once taken up should be destroyed and not thrown out, a depreciated currency, to drive out the better, and to be redeemed again by the people. It is an act of injustice to State officers and State creditors, to be compelled to revive payment in any currency not at par with gold and silver ; an act, in the minds of many well informed persons, of doubtful constitutionality. Entertaining these views, I feel it to be my duty to urge upon the Legislative department the propriety of an act requiring the speedy burning of every bill of the State Banks, that may come into the hands of the Commissioner or Treasurer.

The Executive is required by law to visit the Penitentiary at least once in every year. The transfer of the management and discipline of the prison to lessees, makes this duty of little practical utility. The lessees claim the privilege of using the labor of the convicts in such manner as to best promote their pecuniary interest. I look upon the experiment of leasing the prison to private individuals, who engage in the business for pecuniary profit, as of very questionable policy, as being adopted by the Legislature as a dernier resort, under difficulties, and a virtual abandonment of the expectation of reformation, which was one of the chief arguments in favor of the adoption of that mode of punishment. The system may be liable to favoritism towards some convicts, and oppression to others. A considerable portion of the inmates of the Penitentiary have been persons convicted in the Federal Court for violation of the laws of the United States. For the care and keeping of these convicts, the Federal Government has paid, at different times, considerable sums of money. It is a matter for legal enquiry, whether the money so paid has been properly applied. The penitentiary is believed to be of sufficient extent to hold all who have been, or are likely to be committed to its keeping, for a violation of the laws of the State. The law in regard to the escape of prisoners, both from the Penitentiary and County Jails, needs amendment. The laws requires the Warden to communicate to the Governor all escapes that may occur, yet makes no provision for any action on his part to cause the apprehension of those escaping. The Executive should be clothed with authority to offer a reward for the delivery of fugitives at the expense of those from whose custody they may have escaped. Jail-breaking has been frequent, and escapes common, yet the law, as it now is, does not empower the Executive to cause them to be retaken. The law of rewards is wholly defective, only authorizing a reward to be offered in case of escape before apprehension. I have exercised the power of Executive clemency to a limited extent, in most cases where the conduct of the convict had been good, and he has served out a portion of what was considered a has sentence. I conceive it would be proper to authorize a conditional pardon in some cases, provided the convict would leave the State, never to return on the pain of being retaken. The State would be so relieved of the presence of such persons for the future. The health of the convicts for the last year, from the report of the Physician and Inspections, appears to have been worse than usual. One of the principal causes assigned is the want of an abundant supply of good water. If the law is not sufficient to compel the lessees to furnish all that may be required, it should be made so.

In obedience to the joint resolution of February 8, 1854, on the subject of the line between Georgia and Alabama, I engaged the services of the Hons. E. S. Dargan and James E. Belser, to represent the State before the Court by which the question is to be decided. From their known integrity and ability, I have every reason to expect that the merits of the question will be so presented to the high tribunal before which the matter is to be tested as to insure a decision agreeable to the principles of justice and law, and a final settlement if the vexatious question.

In conformity to the act authorizing a geological survey of the State, I appointed Professor M. Tuomy, of the University, State Geologist. The act requires that he should make report to the Legislature. I am informed by him that he will, at an early date, be prepared with the report. I sincerely hope it will meet fully the most sanguine expectations of the friends of the measure, and add to the fund of information on the subject investigated, so as to lead the further knowledge of the structure of the State, and be the means of developing and promoting the future wealth of the same.

In compliance with the law, (Code 434,) I engaged the services of R. T. Scott, Esq., to make out the registers of land sold in the State. He has for some months been busily engaged in that service. The cost of the work has been greatly more than was expected by me, or was perhaps contemplated by the Legislature. Making it obligatory on the Executive to have the work done, no discretion was vested in this Department on the subject. Although the cost to the State will be heavy, it is believed by those acquainted with the subject that the full amount of the cost will be saved to the State in the first year's assessment on land.

Conceiving it to be unwise and impolite to retain on the statute book any law fallen into disrepute and become obsolete by force of public opinion, I am constrained to invite the legislative body to consider the propriety of a total repeal of the general Military laws. The necessity of a well trained militia is no longer recognized by our people, or enforced by those holding high military offices. Generally, no attention is paid to the subject. In some parts of the State, the people are called from their business and homes for little practical good. In the place of the present exploded system, I suggest the propriety of encouraging volunteer companies, by granting exemption from other public duties those who may be regularly drilled in organized volunteer corps. The volunteer regiment in the city of Mobile is equal to any citizen soldiery in the United States. Other regiments would be raised in the same manner, but for the old plan, which is now equivalent to, and worse than none.

Much of the legislation heretofore enacted, upon examination, will be found to be of a special character—of no general interest to the State. Ample Provision has been made in the Code for legislation of that character. Acts for incorporation, charters for schools, colleges and manufacturing companies, encumber the statute books, while the object intended to be accomplished may be attained at much less trouble to the parties concerned by complying with the general law as already provided. The time of the Legislature is taken up, the session protracted, the laws made voluminous—all at great expense to the people of the State, by the continuance of such a course. Acting under a sense of duty to the people of the State, and having such opinions, I cannot be expected to become a party to legislation of a like character. The statutes on the subject of usury in enlightened communities have of late years been much canvassed, and, to my mind, the conclusion has been established, that the effort by regulate by general laws the value of capitol, or the price of any other marketable commodity, not only defeats its object but often becomes instrumental in promoting the evil proposed to be avoided. In every community supposed to be capable of self government, and among a people as competent of taking care of themselves as the people of these States are believed to be, every man should be left to make his own bargains for money as in any other business transaction. It is a well established fact that many persons grow rich by the usurious wire of capital. Those engaged in the business are of sufficient sagacity to avoid generally the penalties of the law. By usury laws many conscientious men are prevented from using their surplus means in that way, so they are driven from the money market, and the field is left clear to those who considered they have a right to obtain whatever premiums others may choose to give for the use of money ; thus a fair competition is prevented. Those engaged in the business, charge the honest borrower for the risk they take in loaning to those who may not be so. The propriety of any statute may be well questioned for which a man may be considered disgraced for pleading it in bar of payment of a debt, as is generally the case in debts of this character. The law is a relic of barbarism, and only a legal subterfuge for repudiation, and increases the rate of interest, instead of lessening it. I am fully aware of the difficulty of combatting well established prejudices, or of advancing opinions difficult, and requiring study and mental labor to come to correct conclusions ; but I venture to submit the question to the intelligence and good sense of the Legislature, and to the country, as one really calculated to benefit the whole community, particularly the borrowers.

The Constitution of the State, adopted at an early day, and the subject of frequent changes and amendments, has been so experimented upon as to have become, in many particulars, complex, contradictory, and so difficult to be understood and agreed upon, as to be the constant theme of legislative controversy and judicial adjustment, in some particulars presenting difficulties insurmountable. In one instance already, the State has sustained a heavy pecuniary loss. Much advancement has been made in popular government since the original adoption of the Constitution, and some of the amendments made to answer particular purposes have not improved it. I suggest to you, therefore, the propriety of submitting the question to the people for the call of a convention, or at least to amend the present Constitution, so as to reconcile the incongruities existing in regard to the election of Treasurer and Comptroller.

The supposed expense incident to the call of a convention deters some, doubtless, from supporting the measure. More time is now consumed in the discussion of constitutional questions than would cover the expense of a convention. The matter, to be properly understood, should be submitted to the people the day of the general election, which would insure free and full consideration of the propriety of the proposition.

The propriety of a change of the time of convening the Legislature presents itself forcibly to my mind. The time now fixed is one inconvenient to the planter, as well as to those of the legal profession. Members, too, are called from home before the sickly season is fully over; and from the prevalence of the yellow fever at the seat of government for the last three summers, apprehension is excited in the minds of the members, as well as their families, though no member of the Legislature, or officer of the State, has yet been attacked with the disease. The ordinary dictates of prudence should require a change to a period a few weeks later, when there would be no just cause for apprehension. It is the opinion of some that in the event of a change to the first Monday in December, the term of the session would be shortened. It would also have the effect of settling that fruitful source of controversy and speculation, the location of the Capitol. Many who were opposed to the last removal, are now of the opinion that the Capitol and Capitol question have cost quite enough, and conceive it time the question was settled. No location can be expected to be satisfactory to all parts of the State ; and so far as the general interest is effected, the sooner the question is considered closed the better. It may be well asserted that the propriety, as well as the morality, of every removal that has yet taken place, were more than doubtful.

Impelled by the spirit of speculation, and a desire for the attainment of sudden wealth, without the means and labor usual to accomplish that desire, many persons have been made the earnest advocates of an expanded system of Banks and paper money. Unless we are unmindful of all the dearly bought experience of the past, we should hesitate long before we should become parties to a general system now in the flood-tide of experiment in many of the States of this Union.

A people so fully agricultural as ours are, have but little use for a flush circulation of paper money. The events of the last year, felt more in other countries than our own State, admonish us of the danger of a multiplication of Banks and facility of borrowing their issues. The abundant supply of gold from California, Australia, and other auriferous regions, prevented that disastrous crash in monetary affairs which has been so often realized in the history of the past, bringing distress and ruin on many who had no part in the recklessness which brought such disasters. Although the great increase of gold from the recently discovered sources may have prevented a general commercial crisis the few years past, the gold of the world does not afford a basis of safety for the greed of speculation and avarice which grows by what it feeds on, and has no limits ; and from which the only protection the country, has, is the sober judgment of prudent men, founded upon the experience of years, of observation and study.

It might reasonably have been expected that the immense addition of coin to the circulating medium of the world, would have dismissed the necessity, in a great degree, of a paper currency ; but the very reverse seems to be the fact ; for the millions of coin now in the world has only stimulated an increased manufacture of banks. That a continuation of the policy will result in bankruptcy and ruin, if all history is not a delusion, is certain. Alabama has, in a great degree, of late years, escaped from injury incident to excessive banking. It is tile part of wisdom to provide that our people shall still do so. There may be those among us mindful of their own. peculiar aims and interests, who see none of those dangers, as there is an evident disposition to make Banks, as if the mere creation of a paper mint added anything to the real wealth of the country.

Banks are not created fir the people, but to enable those who establish them to borrow their own bills, and pass them upon the public as money. The system of paper money being fixed upon the country, has to be tolerated. as a necessary evil ----at least until other States see the propriety of restricting them to mere commercial operations. It is the duty of wise legislators to restrain its capacity of mischief. We have now five banks in operation in this State, emitting a large circulation of their bills ; besides, agencies of Banks, and a large number of Insurance Companies, engaged in loaning money to those who can make good notes and bills. The tax rolls show immense sums loaned at interest, demonstrating the fact that we have all abundance of capital in the country, fully equal to all the legitimate demands of a well regulated business ; and that an increase would only stimulate, speculation and dangerous adventure, and consequent reaction and disaster. Under such a state of facts, I submit it to the legislative wisdom if it be not well to pause in the establishments of Banks. The report of the Commissioners appointed to examine into the affairs and condition of the Bank of Mobile and the Southern Bank, show a very favorable state of facts in regard to the management and solvency of those institutions, and fully justifies the public confidence they slow enjoy.

The continued and violent agitation of the question of slavery by the people of the non-slaveholding States, exhibits a settled purpose on their part, led on by the bigoted fanatic and scheming politician, to permit the South the enjoyment of no peace in the Union, until, aroused by the spirit of freemen, we will have them to know we have borne with their aggressions until longer submission to wrong and insult is no longer endurable. The assailants of the South have continued their war upon its, until the assumed right of interference in our affairs has become with them a religious sentiment. At no period of our history has this question presented a more gloomy aspect. At no time has there been less prospect of a cessation of the hostile policy adopted towards us. Their power in the States and in Congress is greater and more formidable than ever before; and they seem now actuated by a spirit of mischief. The highest tribunal of a State has shown in its decisions a ready subserviency to popular fanaticism ; and a State Legislature has violated the spirit of the constitutional compact of the Union, in order to prevent the execution of a law made to enforce the requirements of the Constitution. What was once considered the mad efforts of crazy enthusiasts, has now the control of the popular mind at the North, and has become a mighty power, only to be effectually resisted by a united people in the defence of the Constitution, and efforts to preserve a continuation of the Federal Union. It is the blindness of political madness to shut our eyes longer to the serious nature of our position on this subject. The time has come when, as a people united in an emergency, rising above all party considerations, we should be prepared to assert and to maintain our constitutions, we should be prepared to assert and to maintain our constitutional and natural rights, no matter from what source the assaults may come, or the consequences which may follow. The nature of man, in its best form is aggressive – more so in communities and nations. All history teaches us that no people ever maintained their natural or political rights by a course of temporising submission to wrong. Acquiescence in one case but invites another.

The compromises of the Constitution were the first, and should have been the last, the people of the South submitted to. Had the aggressive course of the North been met with firmness at the commencement of this war on our rights, we should long ago have had peace and quiet, which we have been unable to attain by compromises, often at war with the terms of our political compact, and replete with injustice to us. When the calculating selfishness of those agitating, and permitting this agitation, shall find the South agreed and united as to the settlement of this matter, we shall have peace, and not until then. When they are brought to see what they are about to lose---the trade of the South by which they are the chief beneficiaries of the labor of slaves, the shop-keepers and manufacturers will see the wickedness of their conduct. They now very properly conclude, from the course of some Southern men, that we feel as if we would cease to exist without a political connection with, and dependence on, the non-slaveholding States. They have reason to believe that we are prepared for a continuation of the political compact – known as the Union– by a base and shameful acquiescence in whatever wrong they may choose to inflict.

The union of these States is only to be preserved by a faithful observance of the terms of the compact, as agreed upon in the Constitution ; and the sooner the aggressor is made to understand such to be our conclusion, the more likely is the Union to last. So long as the Union is calculated to effect the great objects it was established to accomplish, it should be sustained. But when the government, under the control of a reckless majority, ceases to protect, and becomes an instrument of oppression, it will have failed in the purpose of its creation, and will no longer be a proper object of respect or veneration.

As a party to the great political events which seem fast coming to a crisis, we have no power of avoiding the issues presented. We have no escape, unless, by a firm and united course, we show ourselves ready to maintain our rights under any circumstances. We leave nothing to hope from the sense of justice in the minds of a great majority of those in power in the free States. The realization of the fact that we had come to the period in the history of our wrongs, when we will dare to assert our political equality in the government at any hazard, might cause them to pause. They might be aware of the delusion under which they lie in supposing the people of the slaveholding States so dependent upon a political connection with them for prosperity or happiness. The slaveholding States, and those inevitably bound to us by locality and interest, cover an extent of country whose geniality of climate, and productiveness of soil, combine to make us a people more independent of others than any other part of the world. Producing all the necessaries, many of the luxuries of life, and the great staples that command the commerce of the world, we are as independent, when we shall be driven to independence, of the product or manufactories of those who feel such degradation in the alliance, as if an impassable ocean rolled between us.

With a people brave, intelligent, energetic, and, when aroused, as patriotic as any that have ever lived, I see none of those causes of apprehension and alarm at the contemplation of wrongs, long continued, which will inevitably drive us to dissolve the political ties which have heretofore existed between us and our assailants.

Freed from the commercial restrictions by which we have been fettered for the benefit and protection of the capitalists of our assailants, by the operations of federal legislation, both the products and mechanical labor of the South would receive an impulse never yet enjoyed. The Northern States, so much aggrieved by any connection with slavery, would soon, in bankruptcy and ruin, realize the only injury that their madness will have provoked, and in sackcloth and poverty repent too late of the folly and madness which provoked such results. This question is not one of mere policy which you are called upon to meet ; it is question of existence itself. Necessity knows no law but the law of self – preservation, the first law of nature. As such, it commands your most intense attention, which I earnestly recommend it may receive in your deliberations. For myself, I have long been convinced that the day for compromises and appeals to Northern forbearance had passed, and that our safety depended on a stern and more manly course--resolving, as heretofore, to ask for nothing but what is right, and determine to submit to no farther wrong.

It shall be my earnest effort to co-operate with your honorable bodies in whatever legislation you may consider best calculated to advance the prosperity of the State – reserving to myself, at all times, that freedom of thought and action which belong to an independent co-ordinate branch of the Government. To such enactments as may have my conscientious concurrence, I shall give my prompt approval. To such as I may differ with the sense of the Legislative department upon, I shall not, under a solemn sense of the obligations due to the Constitution and to my constituents, hesitate to assume whatever responsibility I may incur in withholding my approval. Indulging the hope that no such difference of opinion may arise, I cherish the earnest expectation and desire that you may in harmony and good feeling, enter on the high duties of legislating for a, generous people – that your labors may conduce to the public welfare, and secure to yourselves the continued confidence of those who have so honored you – that you may attain an early consummation of your legislative labors---in health return to approving friends, and to the happiness of domestic life.

Whereas, there are many reports in circulation going to establish the fact that yellow fever is prevalent in this city, thereby causing uneasiness and anxiety in the minds of members of the General Assembly, and strangers, greatly tending to retard the public business. THURSDAY, November 15, 1855.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

The committee to whom was referred the resolution inquiring into the probable existence of yellow fever in this city, made the following report:

That, aided by the kindness and courtesy of the authorities of this city, the president of the Relief Club, and the resident physicians, the only correct sources of information, take great pleasure in giving the Legislature the assurance that no case of yellow fever now exists, or has originated in this city or its vicinity within the last twenty days, or likely to, under existing circumstances ; and we have the utmost confidence in believing that should such a catastrophe befall the city, the good citizens and corporate authorities would be foremost in sounding the alarm to your honorable body.

Your committee further believe that with all the nerve which characterizes the chivalarous character of the Montgomerians, they nevertheless would be as much averse to confronting the yellow fever as any member of your honorable body.

Your committee, therefore, reasonably infer that the energy, zeal, and industry with which all classes of citizens pursue their various avocations, is a strong, if not conclusive proof, that the citizens entertain a like opinion with your committee, that no case of yellow fever does now exist ; or is likely soon to occur.

REPORT:

The Committee on Education, to whom was referred a bill entitled an act to aid the Alabama Medical College, to be located at Mobile, Alabama, have had the same under consideration, and ask leave to report, that the physicians throughout the State, feeling the strong necessity of some organization by which they could be brought together frequently, for the purpose of investigating our local diseases, and elevating the standard of professional attainment throughout the State, organized a "State Medical Association" composed of members of most parts of the State. This Association has been in existence for several points, as Montgomery, Selma and Mobile, and finding that the great objects of the Association could not be obtained without a regular place of meeting, and a building suitable for a museum, library, &c., at its last annual meeting, selected the city of Mobile as the point which would best meet its views—on further consideration, it was decided that the objects of the Association could not be fully attained without the establishment of a Medical College. The Mobile Medical Society at once took the subject up, and have offered to raise a sum of not less than forty thousand dollars for the erection of such a college, on condition that the State Legislature will add to it fifty thousand more, which would be sufficient to erect and put in full operation a Medical College equal to any in the United States. In a Medical College, the State Association would have a place of meeting, where they could come together, collect and record all important facts bearing on the climate and diseases of our State—visit a fine museum—bring together the minerals, fossils and other specimens of natural history, and thus develop from year to year the medical and collateral sciences, many of which bear directly on the physical resources of the State.

Your committee need not remind your honorable body of the beneficial influence of home education upon a people. Experience has amply taught the at no country, or no State ever has, or ever can use to an elevated point in the scale of civilization without a well organized system of education, and the completeness of the system is the standard by which each must be measured. If our primary schools and our University have exercised such a beneficial influence over the intelligence, energy and usefulness of our people, it needs no argument to prove that a Medical College would be productive of like good results. A Medical College is not simply a school where young men are taught the nature and treatment of the various diseases which afflict humanity ; but one, where are taught chemistry, mineralogy, botany and colleteral sciences, which are intimately connected with mining, agriculture and other of the daily practical affairs of life. The history of the medical profession, from the beginning of our era to the present day, will prove that to medical men and medical schools are we mainly indebted for the origin and development of those sciences which have most contributed to agriculture, manufactures and the useful arts. Medical Colleges ate the present day are the centres, all over the world, around which cluster the natural sciences.

Your committee would mention the striking fact, that the different catalogues of the United States give a list of 250 students who left our State last year to seek instruction in the Medical Colleges of other States, because no institution of this kind could be found at home. It is estimated, from positive data, that, in traveling expenses, board, books, instruments, drugs, college fees, &c., theses students carry out of our State annually, at least $200,000, and that this drain must steadily increase with increasing population. The interest alone on this sums for three years would equal the donation asked in the bill, and it is therefore clear that in a pecuniary point of view, the State could not make a more profitable investment—but our object is not to show how many dollars and cents the State would save or gain by a Medical College,—we wish to show that a Medical College would give us better physicians, better surgeon, oculists, chemists, mineralogists, geologists, &c. , &c. , in short, would have an immense influence in developing the intellectual resources of the State. Alabama is rich in lands, minerals, agricultural products, commerce, &c., but if we are asked, where are your intellectual products, we must, with shame, acknowledge that ours is not a land of science; or literature. We are behind every State of our age in the Union, and it is time that we should arouse from this lethargy.

The only means by which the standard of attainment in the Medical profession throughout the State can possibly be elevated, is a Medical College at the most accessible and largest town in the State. This is the experience of other States, and the same reasons must exist here. If we had it Medical College at, the Emporium of our State, each branch of the profession would become a speciality—it would become the exclusive occupation of a competent professor—excellence would be attained in all the departments, and the college would become a focus from which knowledge would be distributed. A Medical College would not only form a point of attraction for students from Alabama, Mississippi and other States, but its anatomical rooms, extensive museum, apparatus, &c., would be a source of instruction to our country practitioners. By an occasional visit they might renew their anatomical and surgical knowledge, inform themselves in all the recent improvements, and thus keep pace with those sciences which are constantly progressing and perfecting. Our rivers and Railroads, in a day or two, would bring them to a college in Mobile, but few of those established in practice could afford the time and expense necessary to visit more distant institutions. Moreover, Mobile is the point selected by the State Medical Association, and it is the market town of the State, to which most of them are compelled to come every year for their professional and other supplies.

Your committee would further represent that the peculiar diseases of our climate afford another strong reason for the establishment of a local Medical School. Our billious, congestive, yellow and other fevers— our pneumonias, bowel affections, &c. , are all of types different from those of more Northern States---must be studied on our own soil and their treatment taught by those who have learned at the bed side. Northern schools and Northern professors cannot instruct the youth of Alabama in the practical knowledge which is indispensable to success. Moreover, the constitution and diseases of the negro form another important element in medical education. Our planters need not be told that a physician, to understand these, must be trained by Southern men, and at the bed side.

Our General Government has no power over the subject of education, and both usage and necessity forces each State to provide for its own wants. Every state in the Union, east of the Mississippi, with one or two exceptions, has one or more Medical Colleges, and wherever in a city as large as Mobile, they have been properly endowed, they have prospered and elevated the profession in the country around them ; when, on the contrary, they have been left to private enterprise, they have languished, and from want of the proper appliances for instruction, have been productive of harm instead of good.

Your committee would point to the example and experience of other States. In many, medicine has formed a department in their Universities founded at public expense ; in other States a the successful institution have received liberal State aid to say nothing of other States, those immediately around us, as Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky , Ohio, have all liberally endowed their flourishing Medical schools and our near neighbor, Louisiana has in the last few years appropriated $85,000 to her Medical College, and is now reaping a rich reward.

Many of the daily wants of the profession demand a Medical College at Mobile. If any one of the 1200 physicians in the States requires but a surgical instrument, or many other things whether trivial or important, he is compelled to do without them, or to send all the way to New York or Philadelphia for them, and hundreds of the citizens of Alabama have lost their lives in consequence. There are no instrument makers in Mobile---no well assorted book stores----the druggists are not of the first class, and many articles required by the profession are not here to be had. A Medical College is the only remedy. Wherever such institutions exist, physicians congregate, a market is created, and every want of the profession is supplied.

Your committee have ample reason to believe that this appropriation of $50, 000 asked from the State, together with the $40,000 to be raised by the Trustees of the proposed institution, is sufficient to erect and put in bill operation a first class Medical College. So many Medical Colleges exist in other States their plan of organization is so well understood the cost of buildings, museum, apparatus, &c., so well ascertained, that we can speak knowingly and confidently on this point. Suitable buildings may be erected for about $50,000, and the sum of $40,000 would procure a museum said apparatus equal to any in the United states.

Your committee are clearly of opinion that nothing less than a first class Medical College should be established for if the course of instruction is incomplete, it would only turn loose quacks upon the State, and it could not, compete with other colleges. Most young men would go where they could obtain the greatest amount of knowledge at least expense. It would literally be throwing away money to establish a bad school, whereas, if it is done on a proper scale, success will be prompt and the true interest and honor of the State will be maintained.

Your committee do not view the proposed college as a local institution, but as one in which the country is far more interested than the-town, for the primary object is to supply the State with better physicians and better surgeons—this is a matter that comes home to every man, woman and child within our borders. The history of Alabama legislation will perhaps show no parallel to the proposition now before them. The bill propose proposes to found an institution, than which none could be productive of more wide-spread benefits, on terms by which private individuals find themselves to furnish not only nearly half the capital required but also to educate, free of expense, twenty-seven meritorious poor young men annually. The fees paid annually by this number of young men to any medical college in the United States would be about $3000 an amount equal to the interest at 6 per cent. on the donation asked front the State. The State of Alabama probably never has, nor never can invest $50,000 to such great advantage.

Influenced by these views, the committee have instructed me to report the bill back to the Senate without amendment, and to recommend its passage.

JOSEPH W. TAYLOR, Chairman.

Mr. Patton, from the Joint committee, appointed to examine the offices of Comptroller and State Treasurer, made the following

REPORT:

The Joint committee, composed of three members from each House, appointed to examine the offices of Comptroller of Public Accounts and State Treasurer, for the two fiscal years, ending 30th September, 1855, have discharged that duty, as required by Sections 35 and 36 of the Code, and instructed me to make the following report:

Your committee commenced the examinations with the office of State Treasurer for the period above mentioned, by carefully comparing the entries in his books, both of receipts and disbursements, with the certificates and warrants of the Comptroller, by which they were made, and found the same to agree. They also examined and proved the extensions and additions in said books and found the same to be correct, and the receipts and disbursements for each fiscal year, to agree with the Treasurer's Biennial Report, made to the two Houses of the General Assembly, at the commencement of the present Session. They also ascertained, by an actual count of all the monies in the Treasury, that the same amounted to the balance contained in that report.

Your committee next examined the books and vouchers in the Comptroller's office for the same period, carefully comparing the entries with the vouchers for each fiscal year, as stated above, all of which your committee believe to be strictly correct, and so far as could be ascertained in strict accordance with law.

Your committee then compared the receipts and disbursements for the two fiscal years, ending as above stated, with the amounts for the same period, as shown in the books of the Treasurer's office and found them to agree exactly with each other.

Your committee found on comparing the cash balance on hand on the 30th September, 1855, as shown by the reports of the Comptroller and Treasurer, a difference of fourteen thousand five hundred and fifty-six 7-100 dollars, which upon examination, was found to result from a deficiency of that amount, which still remains due from S. G. Frierson, the late Treasurer, anal which he failed to hay over to his successor on the 27th of January, 1848, the day on which the present Treasurer entered upon the duties of his office. In consequence whereof your committee found that the balance remaining in the Treasury at the close of each fiscal year, as shown by the books in the Comptroller's office, has exceeded the actual balance remaining therein by the amount of said deficiency. All efforts to collect from the said Frierson, the balance due on his official bond, have failed, and in order to adjust and harmonize the balance in the two offices, your committee have instructed us to report the accompanying Preamble and Joint Resolutions, to adjust the cash balance in the office of Comptroller of Public Accounts, so as to correspond with the actual balance in the Treasury orl the 30th September, 1855, and to recommend their passage.

Upon examination of the books and vouchers in the Treasurer's office, your committee find that the receipts during the fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1854, were $645,055 45
That the balance in the Treasury 30th September, 1853, was

1,221,513 60

$1,866,569 05

That the disbursements during the fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1854, were 1,046,292 99

Leaving a balance in the Treasury, at the close of the fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1854, of 820,276 06

That the receipts during the fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1855, were 715,236 59

$1,535,512 65

That the disbursements during the fiscal year, ending 30th September, 1855, were 341,780 22

Leaving a balance in the State Treasury at the close of the fiscal year, ending 30th
September, 1855, of $1,193,732 43

That the receipts from the 30th September, 1855, to the 28th November following, have been 39,689 54

$1,233,421 97

That the disbursements from the 30th September, 1855, to 28th November following, have been 59,164, 27

Thus leaving a balance in the State Treasury on the 28th day of November, 1855, of $1,174,257, 70

That your committee have carefully examined and counted the cash on hand on the 28th day of November, 1855, the day on which they closed the examinations and find the same amounts to be the sum of $1,174,257 70

The descriptions of funds found in the Treasury are as follows, viz:

In notes of the State Bank and Branches, which are sound and suitable for circulation $664,192 00

In notes of the State Bank and Branches, which are mutilated and unfit for circulation 136,402 00

In notes of State Bank and Branches, which are embraced in certificates of deposit in the Bank of Mobile, 54,000 00

	$1,174,157 70

For the safe disposal of the mutilated notes of the State Bank and Branches, now in the State Treasury, amounting to the sum of one hundred and thirty-six thousand four hundred and two dollars, as shown in the preceding statement, your committee have directed life to report the bill herewith and to recommend its passage.

Your committee would respectfully represent that the present salary of the State Treasurer is entirely inadequate to the labor performed and heavy responsibilities assumed by that officer in the discharge of his official duties. They have therefore directed us to report the bill herewith attached, to increase the salary of said officer, and to recommend its passage.

Your committee are pleased to bear testimony, that whilst engaged the past three weeks, in the discharge of the labors connected with their examinations, each of the officers was Prompt in affording all needed information and assistance to enable them with facility to advance their investigations.

Message from the Governor, by Mr. Caitlin, his Secretary

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Montgomery, December 10, 1855 .}

To the Senate:

The bill to be entitled " An act to incorporate the Florence Synodical Female College," appears, to my mind, to be an act already provided for by the general law on the subject of corporations for the purposes of education. It is, therefore, in the class of unnecessary and special legislation, which has heretofore so taken up the time of the Legislature from the consideration of matters of general interest, extending the length of the session, multiplying laws and increasing the general expenditure.

If this bill be necessary to correct a defect in the general law on the subject—which it seems intended to do---the proper mode of correction would be to amend the general law, and to so amend it as not only to provide for the defect in the case now presented, but for all others of a similar character which may hereafter arise.

One would think, from the number of colleges, academies, manufacturing and railroad companies, which have been chartered by our Legislature, that we were the most learned and prosperous people in the South, but, unfortunately, they exist in most cases only in the legislative proceedings.

I look upon all such special legislation as not only unnecessary, but pernicious, to the public welfare. With a knowledge of any opinions on such legislation, I am not expected by my constituents to become a party to it. I, therefore, decline to approve the bill.

Respectfully,
JOHN A. WINSTON.

A message from the Governor by his Private Secretary, Mr. Caitlin:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Montgomery, December 11, 1856.}

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate, in which it originated, a bill to be entitled an "act to incorporate the Huntsville Hotel Company."

This is a bill of fourteen sections, and very improperly adds to the volume of the laws, when the object in view could be attained in a much easier way. It is of that character of special and local legislation which has grown upon the statute books, of late years, to such an extent as to become a crying evil. The general law on corporations would, by a fair construction, cover the propositions of the bill. The parties, under the statute of limited partnership, could obtain the objects intended to be obtained by the bill. If any legislation at all on the subject be necessary, it will be much easier accomplished by amendment to the general law on the subject of corporations so as to include hotels ; and, at the same time, avoid the necessity of bills of a similar character for other localities.

Section nine of the bill provides, "that the said Board of Directors shall not have power, by any act of theirs, to bind any stockholder beyond his stock and the issues and profits thereof." This section is, to my mind, objectionable on its face. The stockholders and directors may contract debts to four-fold the amount of the stock subscribed, in the construction of the building, whilst the bill provides that there shall be none of the parties liable for the obligations so entered into for their benefit. This might result very injuriously to innocent and honest creditors.

Being unable to appreciate the propriety or necessity for such partial legislation, when it is so easy to attain by better means the end proposed, I cannot become a party to it. I therefore withhold my approval.

JOHN A. WINSTON.

The Senate proceeded to reconsider the bill specified in the message.

Mr. Bether, front the committee, to whom was referred that part of the Governor's message relating to the Insane Hospital, made the following

R E P O R T:

The committee on Finance, to whom was committed that portion of the Governor's message relating to the "Insane Hospital," and the report of then Trustees of said Hospital, have had the same under consideration, and after due deliberation and investigation of the subjects referred, by reference to the original act establishing "a Hospital for insane persons in Alabama," the message of the Governor, the reports of the Trustees, the plan of buildings and improvements adopted, the report of the Architect, accompanied by his full explanation before the committee, as to said buildings and improvements, their capacity, present condition, and his estimate for the final and entire completion, I am instructed to report

1st. The site for said Institution., was selected and purchased by Commissioners appointed lay law for that purpose, which cite as far as appears to your committee, combines all the advantages and requisites, prescribed in the original act.

2d. The Trustees appointed to contract for and cause to be erected, the necessary buildings and improvements, after adopting the plan submitted and recommended by the Physician, appointed under the act for that purpose, proceeded to let certain portions of the main building to contract, not wishing to bind the Institution to the payment of a larger sum than had been placed at their disposal. The plan adopted and contracts made, were in the opinion of your committee very properly, in reference to future and further appropriations, as the sum appropriated was itself uncertain, and the amount placed at the disposal of the Trustees, wholly inadequate to erect and complete such buildings and improvements as the act prescribed and required ; such being the case and the limitation to their expenditure being only "until otherwise ordered," the conclusion that the appropriation made would be increased, as required during the progress of the work, was natural on the part of the Trustees.

3d. The plan adopted in its ultimate capacity, will accommodate only two hundred and fifty patients, and is in the opinion of the committee, not only within the authority of law, but in strict conformity to the 8th section of the act, and is not larger than the wants of the State require ; there being in the State according to our late census returns, many more of that class for whose benefit it was designed than it can accommodate.

4th. The contracts as far as let, have been as favorable and economical as could have been expected and agreeable to prices paid, and the estimate of the Architect for the final completion, will bring the final and entire cost of said Hospital within the usual cost of similar buildings of like plan, dimensions and accommodations.

5th. The entire completion of the buildings and improvements, including costs of Steam Engine, Tank Pipes, Gas fixtures, &c., agreeable to the plan and specifications adopted, will require a further sum of about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the appropriation of which sum, your committee unanimously recommend as directed and provided for in the accompanying bill.

T. B. BETHEA,
Chairman.

Ordered that 133 copies of the report and bill be printed for the use of the Senate.

Message from the House by Mr. Chapman.

Mr. President:

The House of Representatives has originated and passed bills of the following titles:

An act to authorize the Governor to issue a patent to Sewell Gregory ;

Also, an act to incorporate the Tuskegee Insurance Company.

Mr. Bacon, from the committee on Public Printing, made the following

REPORT:

The committee on Public Printing, to whom was referred the petition of Brittan & Blue, in relation to a sum of money withheld from them as Public Printers by the Comptroller, for work done under their contract at the Session of 1853 and 1854, have intructed me to report:

That they have thoroughly investigated the facts of the case and have come to the conclusion that the sum claimed by them is justly due, and should be paid. It appears that the difference between the Public Printers and the Comptroller was, that they claimed that eight pages of printed matter constituted what is known in the Code as a "common octavo form," while the Comptroller claimed that sixteen pages " was the proper number. Under the construction of the printers, the Comptroller has paid all bills for work during the Session up to the one under which they now claim, among them the bill for printing the Treasurer's report ; and it appears that the bill in controversy was for the largest and most extensive job ordered by the Legislature; for years – that involved a large outlay of money by the printers to execute it – that they were compelled to have a portion of the money to meet their liabilities – they consented to a settlement of the account in accordance with the views of the Comptroller. – They alledge that they did this under the force of necessity, and under a firm conviction that their original charge for the work was just, in accordance with law and their contract to execute the Public, Printing ; and that the present Legislature would award them their full pay in order to fortify their construction of what constitutes an " octavo form," known as a " common octavo form," and under which construction they made their estimates and calculations upon which their contract for the Public Printing was based; and under which, as already stated, the Comptroller paid them several bills previous to the one question. They wrote to many eminent printers and publishers in the country, and received a mass of corroborating testimony which has been examined by your committee, and which has led them to the conclusion that it is just and should be paid, some of which they herewith submit and ask that it may be read, and also the affidavits from the foreman of the principal establishments in the United States.

In this report, the committee intend no reflection upon the course of the Comptroller – it was a simple and honest difference of opinion in which your committee think the weight of testimony support the contractors for the job. The committee therefore recommend the adoption of the accompanying resolution.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. J. BACON,
Chairman.

The undersigned begs leave to dissent from the report made by the majority of the committee on Public Printing, upon the resolution in reference to the claim of Brittan & Blue, State Printers, for the following reasons:

It is contended by a majority of the committee that the only issue between the Comptroller of Public Accounts and the State Printers grew out of a misunderstanding as to the true definition of the term, "common octavo form," as used in the Code of Alabama. That this misunderstanding consisted in the Public Printers contending that "octavo form" meant "eight pages," while the Comptroller insisted that it meant "sixteen pages." The majority of the committee are sustained in this position by the statement of the Public Printers, who set forth in their petition that a difference of understanding between themselves and the Comptroller as to the meaning of the particular term above stated, made up the issue between them in the settlement of their account, whereby they lost a large sum of money, to which they are rightfully entitled. On the other hand, the Comptroller distinctly stated to the committee that no such issue was made between himself and the State Printers in the settlement of this account, nor was such issue made either in the settlement of this account, or upon any other settlement, nor did he ever hear the question raised until subsequent to an arbitration, which will be hereafter more fully explained— that he only objected to their account for printing his (Comptroller's) report, which was the subject matter in controversy, — upon the simple ground, that the account was "too large." That upon this single issue it was mutually agreed between himself and the State Printers that they would refer the whole matter to arbiters of disinterested practical printers, and abide their decision. Under this agreement the whole question was referred and the arbiters, not the Comptroller, docked the account, as originally presented, to the amount of one thousand five hundred and fifty -five dollars and twenty cents, which is the sum now claimed. The undersigned will here suggest that even upon the face of the amended account, as made out by the arbiters, there is no evidence that THEY curtailed the original account upon a difference of opinion, from the State Printers, as to the definition of the term " octavo form" — the term " octavo form" not even occurring in the amended account. It is taken for granted, that if the arbiters scaled the account in controversy upon this ground, evidence of the fact should and would have been presented to the committee, as it is known that both of the arbiters are now residing in the city of Montgomery. The absence of this testimony goes far to sustain the position of the Comptroller that the only issue submitted for arbitration was, as stated in his testimony before the committee, "that the account, was too large."

The papers in possession of the committee fully set forth, that the arbitration referred to, was regularly gone into, and that upon the award of the arbiters the Comptroller, made, in due form, a full and final settlement of the account in controversy. That the parties claiming are hereby legally estopped from all remedy, it is presumed will not be controverted.

The question remains to be disposed of. Have they an equitable claim upon the State? If the Comptroller be correct as to the true issue – the general character of the account – submitted for arbitration, it cannot be contended, for a moment, that there is the slightest shadow of justice in the claim set up by the State Printers.

But the undersigned will now consider the question upon the hypothesis, that the majority of the committee are correct as to the real issue made between the State Printers and the Comptroller. They contend the difference of opinion arose upon the definition of the term "octavo form," the Comptroller insisting that an "octavo form" contained sixteen pages, instead of eight. It is admitted then, for the sake of the argument alone that this is the real issue to be determined. Now to the proof. It is conceded that the State Printers have presented the evidence of a number of eminent practical printers, sustaining their view of the meaning of "octavo form." Their testimony is confined alone to that of practical printers. On the other hand, it is in evidence that not only practical printers of the highest order sustained the opposite construction of this controverted term, but that the most learned Lexicographers---those whom we have been accustomed to regard as the standards upon these questions concur in the definition that "octavo form " means 16 pages. The two printers who arbitrated the claim now in controversy – no less eminent for their integrity as gentlemen than their high attainments as practical printers--are both understood to concur in the definition last given. From facts which have been drawn forth in this investigation, it is not doubted that with but little effort, almost any amount of testimony could be obtained from practical printers sustaining this same definition. But now to those distinguished Lexicographers whose decisions are ordinarily final on all subjects of this character. Worcester gives the meaning of "octavo " to be, "having eight leaves to a sheet." Webster defines "octavo" "a book or form in which a sheet is folded into eight leaves.” Both agreeing that "octavo" means “eight leaves,” and eight leaves make 16 pages as a matter of course. Thus it will be seen that making this whole matter turn upon this issue—and in this lies the only hope of the claim – the evidence, at best, is not even ballanced, and the case therefore not made out by any just rule of law or equity.

Another point raised by the testimony presented by Comptroller when before the committee is deemed worthy the consideration of the Senate. That officer stated that at the time of the settlement of the account, out of which this controversy arose, he was clearly of opinion the Public Printers were not entitled to receive pay under the new contract, as contained in the Code, which did not go into effect until about the 1st December, 1853– the printing of this particular report having been ordered about the 17th of the previous November, when the old contract was in existence. That in this opinion the, Attorney General originally concurred but was subsequently led to reverse his decision. The Comptroller, against his own judgment, deferred to this second opinion of the Attorney General, and settled with the State Printers upon the terms of the new contract. Now, if the Comptroller was correct in his construction of the law – which is a question equally open as the one already made upon this claim – the most casual comparison of the rates of the old contract with those of the new, will elicit the fact that the State Printers have, already been largely overpaid.

It should have been stated earlier in reference to the assumption on the part of the majority of the committee that the Comptroller had paid other accounts when estimates had been made upon the basis of eight pages to an “octavo form” That officer states he is not aware that he ever paid any such accounts and repeated that no issue upon this point had ever, on the settlement of any account, been raised between him and the State Printers.

For the facts and reasons thus hastily presented, the undersigned is of opinion the claim of Brittan & Blue ought not to be allowed. In conclusion he respectfully submits one other reason, general in its application, to this and all similar questions, which he thinks insist forcibly commend itself to the consideration of the Senate. The revision by the Legislature of settlements made by the officers of the State, where they have no personal interests to subserve---where it is made their particular duty to examine and weigh carefully all the facts of each particular case presented, and whose sworn obligations only require them to do simple justice to the State, involves the establishment of a precedent to say the least, of most questionable policy, and one which must entail upon the General Assembly an interminable amount of perplexity and trouble. All of which is respectfully submitted.

Message from the Governor:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

Gentlemen:---I herewith communicate a letter addressed to me on the subject of the swamp lands, ceded by the Federal Government to the States. Important interests are involved in the title to the swamp and overflowed lands in the borders of the State. Although the quantity and value of the lands which would become the property of the State, under the act of Congress, would prove to be greatly less than in some other States, I am of opinion that it is a matter of sufficient moment to invite the consideration and action of the Legislature, in order to inquire, at least, if it may not be proper to authorize the appointment of an agent to look out said lands.

JOHN A. WINSTON.

Mr. Brindley presented the following protest:

The undersigned objects to the action of the Senate in passing the resolution to adjourn on the 21st December, until the 7th day of January next; and respectfully offers this protest, and asks that it be placed upon the journal.

I believe that it will increase the expense of the session by doubling the mileage.

It does so, as I believe, constructively. Because, if a member be sick, or otherwise unable to go home, he will, in justice and equity, be entitled to the same mileage without traveling a foot. The twenty-fourth section of article three of the constitution, forbids an increase of compensation to take effect during the session at which it is made. I consider such recess and excess of mileage, an increase of compensation, to every member who may claim it, whether he voted for or against the adjournment, or whether he goes home or remains at the seat of government. And by the same rule of reasoning, the compensation fixed by law before the session convened, cannot be changed or reduced during the session.

The constitution appears to anticipate justifiable emergencies – a hostile enemy, or an epidemic disease – authorizing recess, or even removal; thus, as the undersigned believes, tacitly forbidding all such adjournments, in the absence of any such emergency.

The people were called upon a few years ago, and voted their preference to biennial over annual sessions, evidently on the score of economy, in the embarrassed condition of the State. By this recess, instead of one session in two years, we incur the expense of two sessions at once.

It has been argued as a justification for such adjournment, that the session of 1853-'54, with a recess like this and double mileage, cost five or ten thousand dollars less than the preceding session, without such recess and extra, mileage. The undersigned cannot perceive the force of such argument. Excess is excess, and but for the adjournment, the excess of mileage might have been added to the five or ten thousand dollar saving to the State. We are not obliged to incur as much cost, at a less important session, as one of more business and importance. If we can rightfully incur the expense of one recess, why, I ask, may we not continue them the entire term for which we were elected, and thus make the cost of legislating perpetual ?

The decision of the courts cannot appease my conscience, I must think for myself. MACE T. P. BRINDLEY.

Mr. Peterson introduced a bill to incorporate the Eastern Bank of Alabama, which was read first and second times and referred to committee on Banks and Banking.

The hour of 10 o'clock having arrived the special order was taken up, it being the bill to make a loan to the Memphis and Charleston Railroad Company.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
January 9, 1856.}

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate the bill to be entitled an act to make a loan to the Memphis and Charleston Railroad Company, without my approval.

The policy of the State becoming a creditor to any of its citizens, under any circumstances, is at best most questionable. The desire to see works of infernal improvement advanced with great rapidity has induced many who doubted the propriety of State aid to accept, the proposition of short loans of small amounts to important roads, to be made out of any moneys. that might be to the Treasury, not required for the payment of the obligations of the State. I hold, however, that the only purpose for which the government has a right to exact the means of the citizen, is to carry on the affairs of the government, and to pay obligations already existing.

Experience already teaches us that any departure from the legitimate and simple, purposes of government brings, as inevitably as a departure from physical and moral law, a speedy punishment, and admonishes those who have fixed ideas of public policy of the danger of any abandonment of principle in legislation and matters of government. The experience of Alabama is fruitful of the bitter consequences of making expediency paramount to principle.

The proposition to use the credit of the State to promote the pecuniary interests of any class of citizens has, almost without opposition, been pronounced against by the people of Alabama. In the canvass before the people during the past summer, I took the ground, emphatically, that under no circumstances would I sanction any measure using or pledging the credit of the State for any purpose whatever. With a full knowledge of my sentiments on this subject, and in consideration thereof, I was elected by the people.

The report of the State Treasurer shows, that without the re-issue of the bills of the old State Bank and Branches, we have no money in the treasury to loan to railroads ; and the report of the Comptroller shows that we have no grounds on which to base expectations of a receipt of more means than will be needed to pay the liabilities already maturing, and to carry on the ordinary affairs of government.

I am of the opinion that a re-emission of the bills of banks long since placed in liquidation, is a use of the credit of the State in the worst possible form, and of more than doubtful constitutionality. Many of our ablest jurists are clearly of the opinion that such re-emission would be unconstitutional.

To re-issue for the benefit of railroad companies, the bills of defunct banks, which have once been redeemed by the people, with no provision for their redemption but their re-absorption by taxation, would be an act of bad faith to that people who have so patiently and honorably borne heavy taxation to preserve the honor of the State, jeopardized by the ill-conceived financeering of past legislation. The people have been patient and long-suffering under the effects of legislative folly ; but if the course now proposed is persisted in, in despair of ever paying the present and increasing liabilities, they may forget the obligations of State honor, and, in condemning those who have increased their burdens, may refuse to provide the means to meet the obligations imposed upon them. The bills thus re-issued—according to all the ideas of trade and currency—would be bound to depreciate, and become the worst currency that any people had ever imposed upon them. Of all circulating mediums, a depreciated paper one is undoubtedly the worst ; and the loss occasioned by such, almost invariably falls upon those who are least able to bear it, and who are in no wise responsible for such a circulation.

The parties borrowing the notes, after getting them into circulation, would be greatly interested in causing them to depreciate, so as to be able to pay the debt back at a discount. Money-dealers would combine to put them down, for the purpose of making large profits in buying them up again and lending them at par to those in pecuniary embarrassment. Such would be the discount on them that all dues to the State would be paid in no other currency ; and ultimately the State would have to shave her own paper, at a ruinous rate, to meet the interest on her foreign debt, and the people of Alabama be called upon again and again to redeem the same, at par, or to repudiate.

The people and the State were, for a long time, at the mercy of the State banks, the bank debtors, and the corrupt managers who had charge of the banks and the legislation of the country. The bursting of these Banks relieved them from a dilemma, and exposed the folly of State entanglement in things foreign to the proper duties of government. The people took for a time their affairs in their own hands, and by judicious economy and heavy taxes re-established the credit of the State, and gave hope of final freedom. If the present scheme, however, of wholesale loans in all sections of the State be once fixed, the people will be no better off than they were under the old bank system, and the legislation and finances of the State will be again under the control of corporations and debtors.

It is said that the English government is held together by its large national debt. Such a debt may be good for a monarchy, but it is not good for a republic ; and it is to be hoped that the people of Alabama, or the representatives thereof, will not try the experiment.

Had the State the surplus means in the treasury unemployed, it might be proper to loan such means, on short time, to roads approaching completion ; but a loan for so long a time as four years would be improper, even then.

The government cannot, without a violation of principle, take money from the people to lend to corporations, monopolies or individuals. The loan of the State bank notes is, in effect, to levy a tax on the people for that purpose. It is the duty of the Legislature to lower the present rate of taxation, which can never be done while the principles of this bill are acted upon.

The cost of experimental financeering in paper money has been sufficiently ruinous to the prosperity of Alabama to have made us, so far as the affairs of government are concerned, a hard-money and sub-treasury people, and I had supposed we were so. I was elevated to the office I now hold as such, and shall not falsify my position for expediency or temporary policy.

Intending to reflect what I conceive to be the will of the people of Alabama, I refuse my assent to any bill intended to throw again into circulation the bills of the State Bank and Branches ; and again urge upon the Legislature the propriety of passing an act for the burning of all such bills are now, or may hereafter come in the treasury.

When the people come to hold men and parties responsible for legislation so certain to bring great harm to the prosperity and honor of the State, I intend to be without reproach or censure. I most earnestly and respectfully urge the Legislative department not to sacrifice principles so important for the purpose of temporary aid to favorite local interest.

JOHN A. WINSTON.

The following message from the Governor, was transmitted to the Senate by Mr. Caitlin:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
January 9, 1856.}

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate a bill to be entitled "an act to renew the loan to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company." The original loan was made to that company upon representations made by the advocates of the loan, of a temporary embarrassment, at a time of great earnestness, that with the assistance then called for, the road would be so advanced as to make it a paying road, and the loan could be paid at maturity.

Great apprehension was felt and expressed, at the time of the loan, that the company, being once in the possession of the means of the State, would ask for extension, time after time, and ultimately ask the loan to be made a gift, or refuse to pay. The fears then entertained appear about to be realised.

The original loan could never have had the Executive approval, had it been believed that the company would have demanded an extension of the loan. The State has debts now due her by solvent men, of fifteen or twenty years' standing, and the parties are as little prepared to meet them as when they first became due.

The loan to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company was the only act of the Executive, during the session of 1853-'4, that was arraigned and condemned before the people of the State, and which the people disapproved.

If the company are not able to go on now without State aid, they deceived the Legislature in the first instance. By a payment of the loan, the State will be enabled to lend the money so collected to other roads which as yet have received no assistance from the State—if it be the wish of the Legislature to lend sound funds in the treasury for such purposes. This road is already completed over one hundred miles beyond the Alabama line, and should look to its own resources, or for aid from other States in which it lies.

I have been able to see nothing in the capacity exhibited in the construction, or the financial management of the affairs of the company, to entitle this road to special confidence and favor at the hands of the Legislature or the public, or to justify the conclusion that the company will be more able or willing to pay at the end of the proposed extension of time, than at the present.

The road has been so constructed as to require, already, heavy expenditures for repairs. Large and extraordinary sums are paid to its officers. The State has no power to enquire into the management and condition of its affairs. It may be asserted that we have no right to look into these things. Admit it ; but when we are called upon to advance money from the pockets of the people to meet the demands of improvident expenditure and extravagant salaries to officers, we may well hesitate about furnishing it, and enquire who is eventually to foot the bills, and what chance there is of the money being returned to the pockets of the people?

Large donations of land have been made for the purpose of the construction of this road. These lands have not, in good faith, been applied to the objects of the grant ; nor have the public had any opportunity of purchasing the lands for purposes of cultivation of private use. If they have been sold at all, they have been sold privately, and perhaps to parties interested in the management of the affairs of the company. I have no means of knowing accurately what the directors have done with the lands—whether they have sold any part of the donation, or to whom ; but had the 1, 150,000 acres of land been publicly offered for sale, at a minimum of three or four dollars per acre, or even at a higher rate, the company would have been able to have completed the road, at least to the Tennessee line, long since, and would have been in receipt of such an income as not to have been under the necessity of calling on the State of Alabama, in the embarrassed state of her finances, for assistance.

It is the duty of those who engage in schemes of this character, to count the cost before they begin, and not look to a people, so long oppressed with debt and taxation, to build their roads for them. It is, doubtless, an easy matter for companies and directors to make white-washed reports and plausible showings, to borrow money upon and to deceive the public ; but it become the duty of those having charge of the public interest and guard of the public moneys, not to place too much reliance in such interested and one-sided representations.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company are bound, in good faith, to refund the loan. An extension now, would justify extensions indefinitely, and be a dangerous precedent. If the money is to be loaned at all, there are other companies, having equal claims, that have had no aid. I therefore withhold my approval.

The following message was received from the Governor :

Executive Department,
Montgomery, January 17, 1856.}

To the Senate :

The bill to be entitled “ An act to make a loan to the Alabama and Tennessee Rivers Company ” is similar in its provisions and purposes, to the bill to make a loan to the Memphis and Charleston Railroad Company. The objections submitted for the consideration of the Legislature on that bill, apply with equal force to the one now under consideration, and to which I refer, as reasons against the passage of this bill.

Reflection, and the advice and counsel of able jurists, and others of one constituency, whose opinions are entitled to respect from me, but confirm me in my objections to a re-issue, as loans, or in any other manner, of the bills of defunct banks, having no longer any corporate existence or assets of any value scarcely. We are full aware of the unpleasant fact, that our treasury is almost empty, as regards others funds.

The re-emission of these notes will be second only, in its injurious effects to the county, to the original issue of these same notes. The bill people have condemned the whole system, and it is time it should be brought to a close.

The proposition is equivalent to a tax on the people, directly, to aid private corporations ; for the bill can only be absorbed and taken back in the treasury by taxation. How many would be found to advocate a proposition to raise, by direct taxation, a fund for such a purposes? Few, I imagine. Yet this scheme of loans of the old State Bank bills proposes to do this, and, even more, to cause the State to be filled with an irredeemable paper currency little better than trash, and by which the State must lose. Besides, if loans are made, we may expect extensions to indefinite periods, or, if the people, in opposition to the combined railroad influence, should have the strength, and attempt to enforce the payment of the loans thus made, they will most probably lost the whole, for the corporations will please a want of consideration in the original loans of these bills, or the constitutional power of the State to make them. Corporations are proverbially soul-less, and the directors or managers, when they have any soul or honor to begin with, are soon relieved of such inconvenient monitors. In the name of the future honor of the State, and our over-taxed and oppressed constituency, I protest against such unwholesome and dangerous legislative experiments. If it is the intention of the Legislature to adopt a general system of loans, and other roads are to have such aid from the State, I conceive this road more entitled to State favor than any other, but I conceive the whole scheme to be at war with all the teachings of experience and some statemenship, and full of future mischief. I, therefore, cannot sign the bill.

JOHN A. WINSTON.

The Joint committee, to whom was referred the report of John Whiting, " Commissioner and Trustee, to settle the affairs of the State Bank and Branches, and to provide for the payment of the public debt," have had the same under consideration, and instructed me to report :

That to have convenient access to the books, papers, accounts, reports and vouchers, relating to business confided to the Commissioner, the committee held their meetings at the Branch of the Bank of the State, in this city.

They first examined the cash, account of the Commissioner, from the time he entered on the duties of his office, to the 1st November, 1855, which account shows all receipts and disbursements during that period. They find correctly stated the balance received from his predecessor, F. S. Lyon, which as shown by report to last General Assembly, was $55,868 40

From 1st November, 1853 to 1st November, 1855, his receipts from all sources, as shown and explained in his account, has been $867,550 38

Making altogether, $ 923, 418 78

The expenditures in payment of interest redemption of State Bonds and otherwise, as Shown in the account, is $ 751, 735 38

Leaving an unexpended balance on 1st November, 1855, in his hands of $171,683 40

Each item of this account was carefully examined and each was verified by a proper and satisfactory voucher. The same well devised system of checks and balances in the receipts and disbursements of the Commissioner and his Assistants, adopted by his predecessor, has been kept up and observed by the present Commissioner.

Your committee next examined the account of collections from the several Banks, and find the same properly verified

They next proceeded to examine the circulation account. In this account, they find a clerical error of forty dollars, which being corrected, will increase the circulation outstanding by that amount; there is also in the report as printed, a similar typographical error of one hundred dollars.

Your committee then examined the account of bonds redeemed and outstanding. Upon counting those on hand, they were found to correspond in description and amount with the statement in the report.

The annexed tabular statements, show at one view the amount of bonds yet unredeemed, as well as those that have been heretofore redeemed. They will also show the annual of interest to be provided for and where the same is payable, also the amount of reduction in our bond debt, from 1st November, 1853, to 1st November, 1855.

From the tabular statements, it will be seen the outstanding bonds 1st November, 1853, was	$4,484,666 67

Redeemed since,	252,777 77

Which leaves, outstanding on 1st November, 1855,

To offset this sum in part, the State holds in Virginia and North Carolina 6 per cent.
Stocks,

800,000 00

Leaving of Foreign debt yet to be provided for, $3,431,888 90

Though the amount of this debt redeemed within the term of the last two years has been small, compared with the amounts redeemed in some of the previous terms, yet it will be seen the amount retired exceeds that of the two years immediately preceeding by $239,777 77. There falls due absolutely, (without the right to extend,) on the first day of January, 1858, $584,888 90 of sterling bonds. To place beyond contingencies the prompt payment of those bonds your committee recommend that the Virginia, and North Carolina Stocks, now in the hands of the Commissioner, be pledged and set apart for this specific purpose.

In relation to the disposition of the Stock held by the State in the Bank of Mobile, the committee have heretofore made a special report, that the terms of sale to the Bank of Mobile had not been literally complied with, but that there had been a compliance in substance and in good faith without any manner of prejudice to the State. Said report was accompanied with a bill in conformity thereto and the same has become a law.

Your committee concur in the suggestions of the Commissioner to remove and consolidate the business of the Branch Banks at Decatur and Huntsville, and place the same under the control and management of the Assistant Commissioner of the Branch Bank, in this city. Also in the policy of retaining and continuing the Assistant Commissioners at the State Bank and the Branch Banks here and in Mobile, and to abolish the office of Commissioner and Trustee.

The annexed tabular statements on that subject, shows that of the class of debts denominated "bad," "doubtful" and "unknown," and which is regarded by the Assistant Commissioners as almost worthless, there is yet due to the Banks $6, 653, 910 72. Of this very large sum the State cannot calculate to realize any considerable amount, and whatever is secured, will require extraordinary vigilance and exertion. To stimulate and command which, your committee recommend an enlarged discretion in the commissions allowed in the collection of such debts.

The Commissioner reports, that for the safety of the State, as well as himself, he thought prudent to employ a Clerk "to keep an account of his transactions connected with the receipts and disbursements of money." This authority was given to his predecessor and $1500 00 allowed therefor. Whether the omission of such authority was accidental or designed your committee are of opinion that the reasons for continuing such Clerkship justified the responsibility assumed in so doing, and they recommend the salary of $500 00, allowed to the Clerk so employed, be paid by the State.

The committee find in the hands, of the Commissioner a number of blank impressions of the notes of the Branch Bank at Montgomery, which they recommend shall be destroyed. They also recommend that all uncanceled bonds of the State redeemed and in his hands be registered and cancelled.

On the retirement of the Commissioner and Trustee from his long connection with the State Bank and Branches in the various relations of Cashier, Assistant Commissioner and Commissioner-in-Chief, your committee deem it but an act of sheer justice that they bear testimony to the fidelity and ability with which he has discharged his duty in all matters referred to them, or which has come under their notice.

To carry out the various recommendations contained in this report, your committee instruct me to report the accompanying bill and recommend its passage.

Your committee subjoin sundry tabular statements, (each of which explains itself,) showing, in a condensed form, the reduction that has been made in our bond debt and its present condition, as well as the present condition of the State Bank and Branches.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment and proceeded to reconsider the bill to incorporate the Huntsville Mining and Manufacturing Company, and the following message from the Governor, vetoing said bill

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

January 24, 1856.

To the Senate

The purposes of "an act to incorporate the Huntsville Mining and Manufacturing Company," appears to me to be amply provided for in the Code of Alabama,, page 308, chapter 3. Sections 1473, 1474 and 1475 of this chapter read as follows:

“Where two or more persons are desirous of engaging in any manufacturing, mining or quarring business, and of becoming incorporated, such persons must make a declaration in writing, stating

1. The name of the company, and the object for which it is formed.

2. The amount of Capital stock, and the number of shares into which the same is divided.

3. The names of the stockholders, and the number of shares held by each.

This declaration, signed by the stockholders, and acknowledged before any officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds, must be recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of the county or counties in which such business is to be carried on.

Upon the filing and recording of such declaration, the persons who have signed and acknowledged the same, and their successors, become a body corporate, by the name stated therein, and with the powers conferred on private corporations by this Code."

The provisions of this title and chapter, seem to me to be full enough, if there be any use for a general law upon our statute books, to cover the case under consideration, and to have prevented any special enactment. It was supposed that the object of codifying the laws, as was done by the Code, was to simplify and generalize the laws, and at the same time make them so comprehensive as to prevent the necessity of so much special and personal legislation---legislation which has taken up the time of the Legislature heretofore to the great detriment of matters of general interest and importance. But if such were really the object, it would seem—from the great amount of special legislation at the present session—to have proved a failure ; and the hope of relief from the delay and expense of such acts as this, a mere delusion.

Not having been able to discover the defects of the general law on private corporations, I am unable to appreciate the necessity of the passage of this and like bills.

I, therefore, withhold my approval

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WINSTON.

The Senate passed the bill notwithstanding the veto.

The Senate proceeded next to the consideration of the bill for the relief of Spencer Moore and Monemia Kinsey, together with the following veto message from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

January 24, 1856.

To the Senate:

The bill to be entitled an act for the relief of Spencer Moore and Monemia Kinsey, I return to the Senate without my approval.

The bill proposes to exercise, the power of pardoning two persons assumed to be guilty of a violation of the penal laws of the State. The propriety of granting a dispensation for offences against public decency and good morals, may be well questioned at any time or under any circumstances, before the parties are legally convicted. But to grant indulgences to continue to act in violation of the general statutes of the State is the assumption and exercise of power found nowhere. Declining to discuss the policy of such, relief as is contemplated in this bill, I would cite you to the constitution of the State, which expressly denies to the Legislative department of the government the power to grant such relief. Article 2, sections 1 and 2, read as follows:

"Sec. 1. The powers of the government of the State of Alabama shall be divided into three distinct departments; and each of them confided to a, separate body of magistracy to wit : Those which are legislative, to one ; those which are executive to another ; and those which are judicial, to another.

"Sec. 2. No person, or collection of persons, being of one of those departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, except in the instances hereinafter expressly directed or permitted."

By reference to article 4, section 11, it will be seen that the pardoning power is conferred upon the Executive department, consequently denied to the legislative. That section reads as follows:

"Sec. 11. In all criminal and penal cases, except those of treason and impeachment, he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons, and remit fines and forfeitures, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by law," &c.

The question is clearly settled by the Courts of our own State. In the case of Haley et al. vs. Clark, in twenty-sixth Alabama, the Supreme Court says:

“ The principal question is, whether this act is constitutional. By article 4, section 11, of the Constitution of Alabama, the power to remit fines and forfeitures is given to the Governor, and by the second article, the powers of the government are divided into three distinct departments-- the legislative, executive and judicial--and no one of these departments, or person belonging thereto, can exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, sinless expressly directed or permitted by the Constitution. The power to pardon offences, except in Cases of treason or impeachment, and to remit fines and forfeitures, being, as we leave seen, confined by the fundamental law to the executive branch of the government alone. This power is virtually denied to any other department, and cannot, therefore, be exercised by the Legislature. The only question is, whether the act referred to is, directly, or indirectly, an attempt to remit a fine ; for if it be so, the mode or manner in which it is to be done is entirely immaterial. It is the right which the constitution denies, without reference to the mode in which it, may be exercised,” &c.

There may seem to arise bard cases under a proper law, but public morals and public decency require that the law should be respected. The parties intended to be pardoned by the Legislature, may be objects of pity for proper subjects for Executive clemency, but they can get no relief from the Legislature. The passage of this bill would be no protection to them, but a delusion, inducing, then to trust to its protection when it would afford alone. If the Solicitor and Circuit Court Judge do their duty, should the case come into Court, the parties could not he sustained in pleading this act in bar of an indictment, for the Supreme Court was pronounced such acts void.

JOHN A. WINSTON.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

January 26, 1856.}

To the Senate:

The bill to be entitled an act to prohibit the sale of spirituous liquors within three miles of the Female Institute of the Tennessee Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Athens, Alabama, and the bill to be entitled an act to prevent the sale of spirituous liquors within one mile and a half of New Harmony Academy, I herewith return to the Senate, where they originated, without my approval.

The fact that the colleges and schools of the country are to be made to stand god-fathers to the kind of legislation proposed in these bills, the partiality with which any thing connected with the subject of education is viewed in the popular mind and the readiness of men to assail a public officer and misinterpret his motives might well deter me from vetoing these bills on the ground that I do. But I am willing to be tried by the people, having the utmost faith in the correctness and justice of their judgement. Prohibitory legislation is regard to the sale of spirituous liquors, is one of those modern, sumptuary measures of reform which have, of late years, so much distracted the people of the Northern States of this Union. From a close observation of the effects of such measures, in the States in which they have been adopted, both upon temperance and the morals of the country, I am satisfied that all such attempts to force public opinion, or to force men into temperance and sobriety, are not only useless, but eminently prejudicial to the ends had in view. No law can be sustained to any extent that is not in accordance with public sentiment or public feeling, no odds what may be its stringency or severity of penalty. Some fifteen years ago, the Massachusetts Legislature passed a twenty gallon law, as I think it was termed, prohibiting the sale of spirituous liquor in that State in less quantities. And what was the result? Immediately afterwards sprung into existence what was termed the "striped pig." Men could see a painted pig in a back room, for the amount usually paid for a drink, and then get a drink for nothing. After vainly endeavoring to enforce this law, it was finally, after much strife and litigation, repealed. The State has since made an effort, under the Maine liquor law plan, to correct the evils of intemperance, but with no better success, if the newspapers are to be believed. In the State of Maine, there is the "Maine Liquor Law," sure enough, prohibiting the sale of liquor in any quantity whatever, except for mechanical or medical purposes, and then only by a druggist. And what has this effected? It, has effected a concentration of the retail business in the hands of druggists, and caused more cramps in the stomach than were ever known previously in that State ; and caused more mechanism to be projected than possibly ever can be perfected. It has, besides, caused the sale of many handsomely bound volumes, purporting, on their exterior, to be the Bible, or other valuable works, but containing internally only the forbidden beverage. After years of trial, great personal feeling engendered by it, and much precaution tinter it, the system is about to be, if it has not already been, abandoned. These evasions show us, that until popular sentiment is ripe for such laws, that until the people are willing to, and can enforce, as well as to have passed such restrictions, there is in use of such enactments. They not only fail to remedy the evil intended to be remedied, but give rise to others, as well as much fraud, chicanry, deceit and personal ill-feeling. More can be done, for temperance by moral suasion and the cultivation of the grape and the production of native wines, which exilerate without intoxicating like alcoholic drinks, than could be effected by a, thousand stringent prohibitory laws. I wholly repudiate the assumption contained in the two bills under consideration, that our colleges and schools demand such protection. It is an unjust aspersion upon the youth of our State, and upon the character of the State itself, to assume that education cannot be attained where liquors are sold, within a given number of miles, at retail. It is a reproach that should mantle the cheeks of every Southerner, at least, every Alabamian, with shame. But, perhaps, the protection was designed to act only in reference to the professors and teachers employed. If so, I would recommend the employment of those only who have been raised and educated at the South and not those who come from the land where prohibitory measures are deemed necessary to keep them sober. When parents, and others, having control of the youth of the land, will cease to look for such extravagance, aid and perform their own duties to those under their control by earnest precepts and unbending examples of sobriety and virtue; when those clothed with the power and authority of the, sacred desk, in their own Godly walk and lives, become patrons of morality and virtue, and cease to meddle with secular affairs, or to dabble in the muddy and intemperate waters of politics, the cause of education, or of listen appearance, will need no such questionable props as are here proposed. But so long as parents and others only teach temperance, and lecture on the ruinous effects and horrors of liquor, with a side-board or closet full of the best brands--so long as many, who are so fierce in their demands for legislation on the subject, have so often to go or send to the drug store to do what Paul recommended to Timothy--to take a little wine for the stomach's sake-and so long as the champions of legislative temperance are most eloquent under the inspiring influence of alcohol, little or nothing can or ought to be hoped for from legislation to advance the cause of temperance.

If the two schools, named in the bill under consideration, demand this sort of legislation, every school in the State, from the University of Alabama down to the last Sixteenth Section school, equally demands it ; but as no such stringent temperance regulations have been required for the success of the great institutions of learning, in the world, I think the friends of these two schools may well dispense with them, as unwise and objectionable, as they certainly appear to be to my mind.

JOHN A. WINSTON.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

January 26, 1856.

To the Senate:

I am unable to find any thing in the bill to be entitled an act to incorporate the Florence Wesleyan University, which makes it different from others returned without my approval, except that a number of the members of the Legislature are made trustees in the corporation.

Whether this fact is of such importance as to entitle it to special exemption, or whether a knowledge of the circumstances will add much to the reputation of the institution, I am not now prepared to say. But I see no reason why all the ends proposed to be attained by this, and the various bills of the same character, could not be attained by an enlargement of the general law on the subject, which would lessen legislation, shorten the time of the session, and lighten the expenses to the people--a consumation most devoutly to be wished.

Having various bills of this nature to return to the Legislature, I am compelled to be brief, and to refer to the object heretofore communicated to your honorable body, as well as to the House of Representatives.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WINSTON.

Mr. Brindley, from the committee on Accounts, made the following report:

The committee on Accounts, to whom was referred the account of the officers of the Circuit Court of Marshall county, at the September term, 1853, in five several cases of Henry W. Collier, use, &c., vs. Richard Stephens, et al. James Berry, et. al., have had the same under consideration, and instructed me to report, that although the cause of action does not appear in any way satisfactory before your committee, yet they are informed and believe that the above defendants, who, it seems, mulct the State—the costs of which several cases constitutes the account referred—were severally purchasers of parts of section 16, township 9, range 2, east, in the Huntsville Land District, and that said original defendants must have avoided, by their plea or pleas, the contracts of said sales by which the said several contracts were or should have been rescinded by the act of March 6th, 1848,—and the said purchasers dispossessed, but your committee find by the books in the possession of the Superintendent of Free Public Schools, that two notes were made, dated January 1st, 1853, for the aggregate amount of $1167 78, and deposited in that office as it seems, in consideration of said section 16. Several smaller notes, therefore, as your committee think, we consolidated into the two above notes. Under the above circumstances, as understood by your committee, it is not believed that the account is properly chargeable with the costs, until it be shown that said section was not at the time worth the costs over and above what it originally sold for, or, that there was some just cause for giving the judgements against the State, and with township or the funds arising from the sale of the 16th section thereof, is justly chargeable. I am, therefore, instructed to hand back the account and ask that the committee be discharged from the further consideration thereof.

Chairman.

Message from the Governor by Mr. Catlin.

Mr. President:

His Excellency, the Governor, returns the Senate, where it originated, without his approval and accompanied with his objections thereto, a bill to make an appropriation for the completion of the Alabama Insane Hospital, as follows:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

February 2, 1856.

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate, without my approval, "a bill to be entitled an act making an appropriation for the completion of the Alabama Insane Hospital."

The bill proposes to appropriate one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, out of an already exhausted treasury, to carry on and complete the word. The only source from which this large sum of money can come is taxation of the people. Being acquainted with the views and anticipations of those who originally passed the act for the endowment of this institution, I feel warranted in asserting that the fund then appropriated has been most shamefully perverted by those who have had the management of the planning of the building and the expenditure of the appropriation ; and that the policy of endorsing and approving that mal-administration by the Legislature is unwise and unjust to those who have the burden to bear. It would be more proper to discontinue the construction of a building of such an expensive character to a period when the finances of the State are in a better condition, and the people a little relieved from the present amount of taxation.

Little reliance is to be placed in the estimates of interested parties, in regard to the cost of public buildings. We have constant evidence of this, in the construction of buildings of this sort in other States, as well as in Alabama, and the faithlessness of those who have the planning of the work and the outlay of the funds. It would be only charitable to conclude that they should be first occupants of an institution of this sort.

It is not improper, before making further heavy appropriations for the purpose contemplated by this bill, to consider other sums will be essential to carry out this grand scheme of extravagance, or to carry the establishment into effect on the scale now adopted. Large sums will be required to furnish the building with proper furniture and for the proper enclosure of the grounds, and to carry out the details of the institution. Large annual appropriations will be indispensable. I submit it to the consideration of your honorable body, as a common-sense proposition, if it would not be proper to consider the question of discontinuing a building likely to be so costly, and commence one on a less architectural display and equally suited to the purpose of public charity ? The question of a proper selection of location for the attainments of the ends proposed, is one of the greatest importance ; for if the indispensable requisites, for a restoration of the mine diseased, are wanting in the present location, the institution must be a failure, and the money now proposed to be appropriated, as well as that already given, (worse than thrown away) but few, if any, of the requisites for an insane asylum are to be found at the present location, if those who have been treated on the subject, as authority to be respected, know anything on the subject. The location is accessible neither by railroads or navigable streams, and only with delay and fatigue in any other manner. That it is in a place of great salubrity or healthfulness, I think will hardly be asserted with any regard to a true history of the past.

The want of hotels for the accommodation of those who will be compelled to attend the inmates of the asylum, is also a consideration against the locality. These difficulties have already been experienced as serious drawbacks on the prosperity of the University of the State, and will doubtless, ere long, impress the fact of our unfitness of location upon those who will hereafter have the success of that institution more at heart than seems to be the case with any portion of the people at this time.

The Insane Hospital, at its present site, can never, in view of these facts, succeed. We may expend half a million of dollars in its construction, but it will never be fully occupied except by bats and owls.

I am fully aware that I may be subjected to misrepresentation and detraction for the course I feel impelled by a sense of duty to pursue in this matter, but I am not to be deterred from it thereby, nor by the insane clamors of some of those interested and the growls of others. I asserted, in terms not to be mistaken, to the people of the State, the course I should pursue in this matter, and they approved of my position. In defence of the public treasury, I cannot but withhold my approval to this appropriation.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WINSTON.

Message from the Governor by Mr. Catlin

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

February 4, 1856.

To the Senate:

The bill to be entitled “an act to repeal in part an act to amend the charter of the Northern Bank of Alabama, at Huntsville,” approved February 17, 1854, proposes to make an important change in the principle of banking in this State, of a most dangerous character, so far as the circulation of bank notes is concerned, and to allow the Bank very extraordinary privileges. It proposes no less than to bank upon a paper currency, not redeemable at the counter of the Bank, nor at any other point within the jurisdiction of the State, if, indeed, any where. One of the most cogent and forcible reasons advanced in favor of the creation of Banks in Alabama, and particularly in the case of the Northern Bank, located at Huntsville, was that it was indispensibly necessary to protect the public, in that part of the State, from the spurious currency of other States, and to have a sound specie paying Bank located there to regulate the currency and to drive out the wild cat paper of other States, about which we necessarily knew nothing, and over which the State had no control.—

The extraordinary proposition is now made to allow this incorporation to re-issue and pay out this very foreign currency, of which it was to free the currency ; that it was to bank upon foreign bills and not upon its own bills, redeemable at its counter. The practical effect would be, that the notes of the Northern Bank could be exchanged for the notes of the Banks of other States, made to circulate abroad, and none of the contracting parties be made to keep on hand coin to redeem the notes upon which they operate in discount of paper or in transactions of exchange, thus preventing its operation of legitimate banking to a mere agency for the Banks of other States, and making it, in fact, a shaving shop, rather than a sound specie paying Bank. By being allowed to deal in a depreciated foreign paper currency, this Bank, in its exchange operations, would be enabled to make usurious interest, as also in other transactions, and whilst furnishing only a spurious currency, be placed on a better footing than any other Bank on the State on the failure of any of the foreign Banks whose notes this Bank will have issued. It will not be bound to receive the first dollar of them in payment of the individual notes discounted. This is one of the mysteries and beauties of banking and of a better currency of which the quondam, hard-money democracy might well pray to be delivered.--- That constant habit now so popular of altering and amending charters of corporations, after they have once been adopted, is a most dangerous policy. Charters for Banks and Railroads are generally guarded in their provisions when first adopted, and secure protection to the public and individuals against injustice and wrong ; but frequent alterations and amendments, without the greatest attention on the part of the Legislature—which special legislation does not always receive—remove the safeguards, and leave the public and individuals at the mercy of the soulless corporations that are constantly applying for an increase of power. Bank charters being once granted, though stringent in their provisions, are readily accepted, because it is an easy matter to have passed afterwards as unimportant, without much security or enquiry, amendments that materially effect or lessen their stringency—especially is this the case in this day of corporation supremacy.

The Bank of Mobile and Southern Bank asked for no such bastard privileges. These notes are equivalent to gold and silver all over the State, and their stock far above the value of the Northern Bank—the notes of which are at a heavy discount. To secure the advantages of a sound and convertible currency, it becomes to hold Banks rigidly to the times of their charters, and not after they have power and influence to permit any relaxation of the most stringent regulations. The country is now fast approaching a crisis in the affairs of Banks, and it should become us to tighten rather than to loosen the rein of banking.

The act of the 17th February, 1854, containing this same provision, which was to last for a period of two years, only without renewal, was approved in the hurry of business, and not particularly noticed. It was a most unwise measure and should not be continued. No such scheme can receive my approval.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WINSTON.

Mr. President:

The House has originated and passed a bill of the following title:

To reclaim swamp and overflowed lands within this State.

A message from the Governor by Mr. Catlin:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

February 5, 1856.

To the Senate:

The bill to be entitled " an act to make a loan to the Alabama and Mississippi Rivers Railroad Company," is liable to all the objections urged against the loans to other roads, which I have endeavored to present to your honorable body.

The large sums already appropriated from the public treasury will have so depleted it as to make it improper to make other drafts on it. Sums necessary to carry on the affairs of the State government will necessarily be, for a time, lying in the treasury, which, by this act, will be liable to be paid out on the demand of the Company. The receipts, in all human probability, will be mainly in the notes of defunct Banks, so that the State will be in most straightened circumstances to pay the interest on foreign debt. If this free system of loans is continued, there will really be no money in the treasury to meet the demands of the bill. Besides, as another objection to this loan provided for by this bill, it is intended to be made on a debt due from another Railroad Company, which may not be met at maturity the payment of which may be contested and long delayed by litigation.

If there is any certainty about the payment of the debt by the Montgomery and West Point Railroad Company, let the Company now seeking this loan, borrow from others by pledging the money now in the hands of the Montgomery and West Railroad Company.

This Alabama and Mississippi Rivers Railroad is but a neighborhood road, except in name, and less than thirty miles in extent. It has already been the recipient of more State aid than any other in the State.

For these, and the general objections already presented for loans heretofore made, I decline to approve this bill ; and again urge upon the legislative department the danger of entirely exhausting the means of the State by measures of this kind.

Respectfully,

JOHN A . WINSTON.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the special order, it being the bill providing for the survey of a central route from North to South Alabama.

Mr. President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Governor :

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

February 4, 1856.

To the Senate

I herewith communicate a notice from the lessees of the Penitentiary of the escape of a convict from the Penitentiary.

In my message at the opening of the session, I conceived it to be my duty to call the attention of the Legislative department to the necessity of the passage of some act to meet such cases, both in the matter of the apprehension of the fugitive as well as the expense of such means as may be taken to secure that end.

Until there is further legislation on the subject, I presume the efforts to secure a re-apprehension will end with that an escape has taken place; and that those who, from negligence or design, have permitted it, are quite unable to account in what manner it happened.

There being no authority for offering a reward by the State for the re-taking of fugitives, either from the State prison or county jails, the frequent escapes which occur are about equal to the acquittals.

Message from the Governor by Mr. Catlin:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

February 6, 1856.

To the ,Senate

I return, without my approval, the bill to be entitled “ an act to authorize the conferring of diplomas at the Southern Military Academy, of Chambers county.”

I presume it will not be contested that at any institution of learning, merely of a scholastic character, may grant to those who have received instruction at such institution, a certificate of the progress and advancement they have made in the sciences and branches of literature there taught. A diploma, though it may be in Latin, Hebrew, or Dutch, would be no more. As I conceive the bill confers no powers not already possessed, I can see no necessity of its becoming a law.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WENSTON.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

The general orders were suspended in order to allow Mr. Bacon, from a special committee, to make a report on the bill in relation to emigration.

Mr. Bacon made the following

REPORT:

The Special committee, to whom was referred an act in relation to Kansas Emigration, have instructed me to report, that they deprecate the agitation of a question so exciting to the popular mind, so adverse to the peace, quiet and harmony, which should characterise the united interests of our government. The relations which ought to exist between the several States of this republic should be known as ties of brotherly unity and kindly feeling ; all should exert an influence to sustain the integrity, the stability and the unswerving patriotism of devotion to the Union of the States. They utterly abhor and detest the unsound political principles, and the false fanatical agitations of any party which would undertake to subvert the time-honored and sacred institutions of our government.

Your committee farther believe that the doctrine of non-intervention is the true policy in regard to the exciting question of slavery in the Territories. Holding to these true republican principles, they could only be induced by imperious necessity, and the force of peculiar circumstances, to recommend the passage of this bill.

The South has supplicated for justice and appealed to the fanatics of the non-slaveholding States, urged argument upon argument, and begging to persuasion, in vain to reach their feelings of patriotism ; still their organized assaults upon the constitutional rights of the South, their gradual but certain encroachments, upon the sacredly guaranteed soil of slavery, and the equally sacred rights of the slaveholder, continue to progress. In view of these facts, we are driven to ask ourselves the question, are we justifiable in establishing the policy of extension and strengthening the institution of slavery? Shall we lie supinely upon our backs and shut our eyes to the almost superhuman efforts of the free States to abolitionize the common territory? Shall we offer no protest to the fanatical designs of the North, in moulding the institutions and establishing the character of the territories? Instead of aiding to extend, shall we submit to a reetraction of the limits of the area of slave territory ? Shall we fold our arms and see a sister slave State, flanked already upon the north and east by freesoil States, and subject to the influence of invasion by their abolition emissaries, and trembling at the prospect of another broadside, abandoned to despair to abolitionism? Shall she claim no sympathy from us ? Missouri, upon the very border of the field of contest – the exciting scene of action, from which must result her existence as a slave State, or her destiny in the rebellious spirits which will surround her – shall she have no helping hand in this frightful crisis? Has she no co-laborers in the slave-holding States, whose interests are identified with hers in maintaining slave soil and a western outlet for the emigration of Southerners with their slaves, as the slow but certain tread of abolitionism, and the fanatical press of freesoilism steadily advances and encroaches upon our Northern borders, and the work of emancipation is claiming the attention and support of slave-holding devines and Jesuit-stricken masters in all our border States ? Does it require a, prophetic eye to see what must be the ultimate destiny of the institution of slavery if we allow it to be "pent up" in a limited sphere, and surrounded by cordon of free States and fanatics ?

The citizens of Kansas have proclaimed themselves good and true pro-slavery men, and established their Territorial Legislature, sustained and sanctioned by her Governor, and in this position should she be sustained by the helping hand of the South? She has protested against the mad efforts of the Emigrant Aid Societies to force her to a freesoil organization, and the attempt to control her destiny by the flooding of freesoil emigrants into her borders. She has resisted successfully these hords of hired Northern emigrants at the ballot box, met force with force, declared her territory pro-slavery, and her determination to maintain it against unlawful, false and riotous leads. Shall she have no support, no sympathy from Alabama ? Her citizens cry aloud for help to protect thorn from the factious, mutinous and armed spirit of abolitionism, which is supported by means and money, arms and amunition, from New England. Their rights are invaded, their lives and their property endangered, and their State government threatened by the capriecees and insurrections of wild, fanatical assassins, who are endeavoring, vi et armis, to overrun the action of her Territorial legislation, and secure her admission into the Union as a free State.

Your committee believe the organization of the Northern Aid Societies in violation of law and justice, and directly at war with every principle of our government, and the fact that these movements have passed without notice, and have met the silent approbation of the law-making powers of the free States. If these societies and organizations are in violation of law and dangerous, as conspiracies formed with the public avowal to invade with hostile intention the territories, and establish by force what they are unable to do by policy, in a country open to all, common to the citizens of this Union with civil rights, they should be noticed and suppressed where they originated.

The hope of receiving justice at the hands of our Northern brethren has long since expired, and we must look to ourselves for means to resist these ruthless and unprincipled invasions – these threatening assaults upon our rights in the Territories.

Your committee know of no other mode of redress, and see no other means of maintaining their rights and of sustaining and perpetuating the institutions of slavery. We believe it a God-given right---ours by Heaven, and the right of possession – a blessing, “moral, social and political,” which the tripple alliance of abolitionism, freesolism and fanaticism can never rob us, by organized societies for invasion, by insurrection or by force. If this policy is pursued by the North, we stand prepared to resist it, and will inset it by every honorable means in our power, strike for our rights and our liberties, regardless of threats and fearless of force. If the issue must come, let it come, and upon that common territory we will meet upon a, battle-field which shall be dyed with the gore of thousands of Southern patriots, who are willing to die in defence of their rights in the States and in the Territories. God avert, such a calamity !---but with a firm reliance upon the justice of our cause, and a trust in heaven, we fear to meet no enemy.

The committee have instructed me to report favorably upon the bill, and to recommend its passage.

E. J. BACON.

The Senate proceeded to consider the bill to prevent the sale of spirituous liquors within one a half miles of the lot and building known as Barnes' Store, at Pleasant Ridge, in the county of Greene, together with the following message from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
February 8, 1856 .}

To the Senate:

The bill to be entitled "an act to prevent the sale of spirituous liquors within one mile and a half of the lot and building known as Barnes' Store, at Pleasant Ridge, in the county of Greene," is not only a prohibitory liquor law, so far as all persons living within one mile and a half of Barnes' lot and Store are concerned but is equally a monopoly to Mr. Barnes himself, or whoever owns the store.

Liquors are not forbidden to be sold within the store, but only within a mile and a half of it – thus giving to Mr. Barnes the exclusive liquor trade over an area of three miles square – probably greatly to the injury to persons who would keep better liquors, and at more reasonable rates,

I am equally as much against monopoly in the liquor traffic as I am against exclusion by legislative enactments. I, therefore, return this bill without any approval.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WINSTON.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,}

February 13, 1856.

To the Senate:

The "bill to be entitled an act to incorporate the Alabama Roofing, Slate Company can have but one object in view—the confiscation of private property to the use of the Company for the construction of a private Railroad. Apart from this, there is nothing in it not allowed to every citizen of the State, in the exercise of his vocation. I can see no more necessity for incorporating this Company that to incorporate one to get shingles. If it be necessary to incorporate it at all, is in already fully provided for by the general law in the Code, with the exception of the right to confiscate private property for a Railroad for its exclusive use—to the granting of which right I am opposed, as decidedly unconstitutional.

I return the bill without my approval.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. WINSTON.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

February 14, 1856.}

To the Senate.

I return to the Senate, without my approval, “ a bill to be entitled an act to amend section 939 of the Code of Alabama.”

The section proposed to be amended, reads as follows:

“No foreign corporation, invested with the privilege of banking, must exercise the same by agent in this State, except by the exclusive use of gold and silver coin, and bank bills issued by the authority of this State.” A more wholesome provision, in my judgment--sustained by experience and the laws of banking and trade---does not exist on the statute books of the State; a statute most indispensable for the protection of the public at this time, when the rage for the creation and use of banks and paper money rules as a monetary epidemic in this and other States.

By the passage of this bill, we invite bank agencies of whatever character, without distinction, to come in and flood the State with their promises to pay, with no power to compel a redemption of the notes thrown into circulation by them.

The propriety of maintaining the present general provision on the subject, seems to me so apparent that argument is not needed:

Respectfully,

JOHN A . W INSTON.

The bill passed notwithstanding the veto.
